GLOBAL STONE TECHNOLOGY FORUM

The sixth edition of Global Stone Technology Forum (GSTF) is scheduled during December 17 - 18, 2015 at P. P. Singhal Auditorium, Udaipur Chamber of Commerce & Industry (UCCI), Madri, Udaipur, Rajasthan (India). GSTF is being regularly organised by CDOS in co-operation with FICCI and RIICO with special focus on new technologies and technology related issues of the stone industry, both from users' and producers' point of view.

The Forum would provide a platform to explore the possibilities for Indian Stone industry to adopt latest technical advancements / innovations in the field of Stone Mining, Processing and Value addition to make the industry more competitive and a zero-waste industry. Besides above, the important areas like energy efficiency, product standardization, stone waste management and other research and development initiatives / developments in stone sector would also be covered in the two day Conference.

Technical skills and market competition take their course progressively as time goes by; and consequently, natural stone industry becomes more and more sophisticated. Better dissemination of those advancements / innovations will take the stone sector to the next level in terms of technology upgradation. Adoption of new technology will help us to cut down the production cost and improve the quality of the product both in mining as well as in processing sector.
